experience aspect of website development. Web design used to be focused on designing websites for desktop browsers; however, since the mid-2010s, design for mobile and tablet browsers has become an ever-increasingly popular and versatile industry.

A web designer works on the appearance, layout, and, in some cases, content of a website. Appearance is all about using the right colors, font, and images used whereas layout refers to how information is structured and categorized. A good web design is easy to use, aesthetically pleasing, and suits the user group and brand of the website. Top Web Designing Companies focus on simplicity, so that no extraneous information and functionality that might distract or confuse users gets out. As a result the product is a site that wins over trust of the target audience, and working on as many potential points of user frustration as possible.
