On Never Give Up Day, we celebrate the resilience, determination and courage with which people persevere in their struggle against overwhelming odds”

Mr Never Give Up

Whether it is reaching your dreams or fighting illness. Whether financial difficulties cause you stress and frustration or relationship stress negatively affects your emotional and physical health. Whether it's hard to get over someone you've lost or when you've been let down and abandoned. Even in the toughest of times, there are often untapped reserves of physical and emotional strength to help you meet challenges.

The aim of Never Give Up Day is to reduce the rate of people 'giving up' and increase the rate of people 'persevering.'
