The Indian laparoscopy device market accounted for $621.4 million in 2019, and is projected to reach $729.2 million by 2027, registering a CAGR of 6.9%.

Laparoscopy is a minimally invasive surgical procedure that assists in diagnosis of various abdominal and pelvic disorders, such as cysts, adhesions, fibroids, and infection, that occurs in female pelvic organs. It is also known as “keyhole” surgery, and is performed by creating a small incision. Laparoscopes are inserted through a small incision in the abdomen, which captures pictures of abdominal organs. This procedure also assists in performing a biopsy of tissues and surgeries, such as cholecystectomy (laparoscopic gallbladder surgery), appendectomies (removal of appendix) and anti-reflux surgery, treatment for acid reflux, also known as GERD (gastroesophageal reflux disease).

The key factors that drive the Indian laparoscopy devices market include rise in number of obese populations, growing number of minimally invasive procedures along with the rise in disposable income, surge in laparoscopic-based bariatric surgeries for weight reduction, and increase in technological advancements pertaining to these devices. However, lack of expertise in laparoscopic surgeries and high costs associated with these devices and procedures are anticipated to restrain the Indian laparoscopy device market growth. Moreover, the growing investments and funding in healthcare sector will certainly create many lucrative opportunities for various regional key players in this market.
