Tigernuts have experienced a surge in Western popularity as both a flavorful and nutritious snack and ingredient. Packed with antioxidants, fiber, and healthy fats, Tigernuts are a great source of fiber and can aid digestion; they also have specific vitamins that are conducive to healthy living. They contain a chewy texture that's mildly sweet, nutty flavor, which lends a remarkable element to tried-and-true snacks like granola, nut spreads, and kasha powders.

Despite the tricky name, tigernuts contain no actual nuts! They are a member of the tuber family, making them a great alternative to those with dietary restrictions or common food allergies. Tigernut products can be used as an ingredient substitute for many recipes and can easily be incorporated into many of your favorite snacks and desserts. Sate your sweet tooth with an organic, no-sugar-added delight from the Natureul line of tigernut treats.

One of the very first plants to be intentionally and meaningfully cultivated by humans for consumption, Natureul's organic tigernuts reap the benefits of great flavor and well-being with these incredible offerings:
