Among the key features of the platform, there are behavior recording tools that enable seeing where users scroll and touch website pages, reach analytics, which helps analyze & improve sales funnels, and reports, showing where users commit target actions or leave the website. Heatmap and funnel building features are among the technology favorites.

Basically, Creabl users can track clicks, apply cohorts to divide users into groups, build funnels on the fly & check out product engagement through retention reports, and more, all – for unlimited team members within unlimited use sessions of unlimited value.

About Creabl:

Creabl behavior recording tool helps businesses create funnels and have them segmented as per behavior or any other user attribute to better understand which users convert most actively and point the teams at the funnel steps that should be improved to cause friction to engage more users.

The platform offers a record of actual mouse movements and clicks during website sessions in real-time, when visitors surf across business pages, click and move up and down on a page to nail up their patterns. Businesses can understand how users from particular cohorts tend to behave, do and use. The data retrieved will help enterprises make better-measured decisions.
