adaptive athletes.

□ #5 TIE: Concept2 SkiErg. A training tool for cross country skiers that can be adapted to those with lower body limitations or injuries.

“Adaptive exercise equipment is so important following a spinal cord injury,” says Vinny Dolan, Executive Director of SpinalCord.com. “Exercise not only helps build strength, but confidence. With this equipment, SCI survivors can continue to stay active, and athletes can stay in the game – even if it’s a little different than before!

We’re grateful for the difference these products are making in the lives of people everywhere.”

Executive Director of SpinalCord.com Vinny Dolan

The winners receive a unique digital badge that they can feature on their website to let visitors know that they’re highly recommended within the community. In addition, SpinalCord.com is highlighting them on a special page dedicated to winners, Best Adaptive Exercise Equipment 2022.
