Pasta is a traditional Italian dish that is usually prepared by mixing flour, water, eggs, vegetables, and oil. Some of the common pasta variants include penne, spaghetti, barbina, fettuccine, farfalle, etc. Pasta is an excellent source of protein, fiber, and carbohydrates. It also has low cholesterol and sodium content. Pasta can be added to salads and soups or stuffed with cheese, meat, and vegetables before boiling or baking.

Note: Our analysts are continuously monitoring the influence of the COVID-19 pandemic on the market. This insightful information is included in the report to improve the efficiency, resilience and overall performance of businesses.

GCC Pasta Industry Trends and Drivers:

The shifting preferences among consumers towards processed and easy-to-cook food products, owing to their hectic lifestyles, are among the primary factors driving the GCC pasta market. In addition to this, the elevating popularity of inter-continental food trends and the increasing availability of new and novel pasta variants are further catalyzing the market growth. Moreover, the rising number of restaurants offering customized pasta dishes that cater to regional taste preferences is also positively influencing the product demand. Apart from this, the growing consumer concerns regarding health risks related to the consumption of synthetic ingredients-based pasta are propelling the demand for organic and naturally-sourced variants, which is expected to fuel the GCC pasta market in the coming years.
