/EINPresswire.com/ -- Learnalot is celebrating the success of its students who have earned their American GED High School Equivalency Diploma.

Shaun Swartz, founder and CEO of the online school, says many GED students believe that when they leave high school early, they might never return to school. However, that has not been the case for Learnalot graduates.

When I think about our students, I always think back to the times when so many students say to myself or GED teachers that they never thought this day would ever come.”

Shaun Swartz

Their success as students did not go unnoticed. "When I think about our students, I always think back to the times when so many students say to myself or GED teachers that they never thought this day would ever come," said Swartz.

He continued, "for them to be able to have the opportunity to come back and accomplish their dream is amazing. You have people right out of high school, people in their 50s and every age in between, coming back to earn their GED, and it is such a sense of accomplishment for them. You see the joy as they get their GED diploma and they celebrate with their friends. It just does something to you, something to your heart."
