

MbenzGram Highlights Rigid Industries Bronco Roof Pod Mount

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, August 20, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Leading online aftermarket car parts company MbenzGram, also known as MBGRAM, recently highlighted one of the many vehicle parts in its selection of options. Produced by Rigid Industries, a new Bronco roof pod mount is available for immediate purchase. Designs for new Broncos made in 2021-present, pricing is currently set at $499.99.

A roof pod mount helps with the installation of LED lighting. Bronco owners looking for additional light see roof pod mounts as a necessary investment. Getting the right one that provides ultimate stability makes a huge difference.

This particular Bronco roof pod mount can fit eight 4-inch 360 Series lights from Rigid Industries. It's recommended to use the lights from Rigid as well for a perfect fit. On the Bronco is a roof line mounting location that is precisely measured for these aftermarket products to work as they should.

This Rigid Industries roof pod mount consists primarily of stainless steel. There is a UV and abrasion-resistant powder coat to help protect against any weather issues. This comes standard on many aftermarket parts for a safe, rugged ride. Bronco drivers love the flexibility of going anywhere with their vehicle, and the mounts will hold up.

Rigid Industries recommends professionals handle the installation process for the mount. Included in the purchase is all the necessary hardware to hand over to the installation team. Only seasoned car enthusiasts with a proper background should consider installing the roof pod mount due to the trickiness of the process. Failure to attach it correctly creates an unsteady platform.

The roof pod mount automatically qualifies for free shipping from MbenzGram. All orders over $200 from the company qualify. This also means that any added products to the order also ship free.
