SOUTHWORTH, WASHINGTON, UNITED STATES, August 24, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Southworth is an unincorporated community and census-designated place (CDP) on

Puget Sound in Kitsap County,

Washington, United States. It is best known for being the west end of the Fauntleroy-Vashon Island-Southworth Washington State

Ferries run. Landmarks include Southworth Grocery, a US Post Office, ferry terminal, clay cliffs and a private beach on the point. Next to the ferry is a popular place to launch kayaks for trips to nearby Blake Island.

The population of the Southworth CDP was 2,185 at the 2010 census. Southworth is in southeastern Kitsap County on the shore of Puget Sound, with the CDP limits extending southwest from Point Southworth 0.5 miles (0.80 km) along Colvos Passage and northwest from Point Southworth 2.5 miles (4.0 km) to Yukon Harbor.
