Market Overview (2021-2026)

- Forecast CAGR (2021-2026): 5.5 %.

The airport segment has a large share of the market based on end-use. This can be due to the increasing adoption of nap pods as 'pay-as-you-go' sleeping spaces in airports to enable passengers to rest between flights. Meanwhile, the corporate office segment is expected to make a major contribution to the growth of the industry over the forecast period, due to an increasing awareness of the benefits of power naps and an improvement in the productivity of a person. In addition, a growing emphasis on human welfare is expected to result in increased demand for nap pods from different industries.

Industry Definition and Major Segments

Nap pod refers to a specially built chair or cubicle that allows people to take a quick nap, typically at workstations, corporate offices, and others. These gadgets enable workers, students or passengers at the airport to take a short nap of 15 to 20 minutes in an efficient and easy way. As power naps help to increase the alertness and efficiency of a person, nap pod is also referred to as an energy pod or nap capsule. Nowadays, they also come with advanced features such as light effects and others, thus improving their performance.
