Key Trends In The Delivery Drone Services Market

Rising approvals are shaping the delivery drone services market. Over the last several years, drones have become extremely prevalent as many individuals and organizations are completely accepting and incorporating this technology into their business model. For instance, in April 2019, Wing, the drone shipping firm operated by Google's parent company Alphabet, became the first US organization to receive permission from the Federal Aviation Authority (FAA) to start testing deliveries. It has collaborated with Walgreens, which has a store across 78% of the US population within 5 miles, this means that almost 80% of the US would be in the range of Wing services if and when the technology was more extensively deployed.

Overview Of The Delivery Drone Services Market

The delivery drone services market consists of sales of drone services by entities (organizations, sole traders, and partnerships) that are engaged in providing contactless delivery services.
