When speaking about the company and the services, one client noted: "They were on time, very courteous and professional. My windows and screens were cleaned really well. I liked the fact that they called ahead of time to ask detailed questions and advised that some screens needed to be removed from the inside, which mine was. I also liked that the bill was sent via email after they were complete to pay online."

The company also offers house washing services to those interested in selling their homes or as part of regular maintenance. Regardless of the reasons, the team of professional contractors uses the right equipment and cleaning products to make the home sparkle. The cleaning is also highly customized for efficiency, with an understanding that homes require different approaches when removing stubborn stains and dirt.

In addition, the locally owned and operated company offers roof cleaning, assisting the client in extending the life expectancy of their roof and removing debris, rubbish, grime, and stubborn stains. They combine carefully-selected cleaning supplies and low pressure to give the home a facelift and protect the investment from cracks and fading. Also, the professional cleaning team uses water from a tank on their truck. With that, they avoid dirty mop water flowing to the client's patio or driveway.

Go Kleen LLC cleans blocked downspouts and gutters with excessive debris and leaves. The service is also available to clients interested in protecting their property from water damage. Irrespective of how clogged the gutters are, the team has a systematic way of cleaning them, starting with removing large rubbish and debris. They then use a pressure washer to make the gutter look as clean as new.

Residential and commercial clients with cloudy or dirty windows can contact the company for professional cleaning services. Besides ensuring the windows are sparkling and crystal clear, the cleaning team uses the right pressure to avoid window breakages and accidents. They also use the right cleaning solutions, which are environmentally friendly.
