This initiative is a strategic follow-up to Adamant's recently announced acquisition of a substantial position in Europronet, and will provide high speed Internet access to Europronet's business and residential customers while providing a strong foundation for growth. This undertaking will also improve Adamant's competitive edge and stability through ownership of its own high-speed network.

The benefits of Fiber Optic are significant and include:

- Higher bandwidth; hence faster.

- Longer transmission distances.
- Greater flexibility.
- Improved latency.
- Stronger security.

Andrea Pagani, CEO of Adamant Global, commented: "This is a strategic and forward-looking acquisition, which will reinforce the quality of service we are able to provide to Europronet's customers. It also introduces a major asset into our corporation. Through this and other strategic measures, Adamant is expanding its business from wholesale telecom into the lucrative retail market.

These changes enable us to better-serve retail and small to medium-sized organizations, which will ultimately foster customer loyalty and growth of the customer base. This, in turn, will expedite distribution of our strategic payment and communication App, and reduce associated marketing costs.”
