D&J Mechanical, LLC Company Trailer for Heat Pump Services

Sangerville is a small town located in the highlands of beautiful Piscataquis County. Situated between the Piscataquis River and Harlow Pond, Sangerville is a small but proud community in a stunning part of the world. The town was named after Colonel Calvin Sanger, an early settler and landowner who started a vibrant lumbering and agricultural village. People in Sangerville face long, cold winters, and high-quality heating is needed in every home and workplace.

D&J Mechanical, LLC is a respected local business and a proud part of the community. The company is owned and operated by Dan Hartford, a trusted local with nearly a decade of HVAC industry experience and vast experience with heat pump technologies. The company specializes in installing Mitsubishi mini-split heat pumps. When you work with D&J Mechanical, LLC, you benefit from heat pump expertise, strong technical skills, and friendly customer service. The company offers residential and light commercial heating and cooling solutions for Maine's seasonal weather. Dan Hartford looks forward to the continued expansion of its service past Sangerville and into the surrounding area.
