

Gamma Law Welcomes Associate Amy Sanderson

2022 Law School Graduate Previously Served as Firm's Law Clerk

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, August 30, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- SAN FRANCISCO August 31, 2022 – Gamma Law, a premier specialty law firm supporting clients in high-growth and emerging industries, today announced that Amy Sanderson has joined the firm as an associate lawyer.

A 2022 graduate of the University of California, Irvine School of Law, Sanderson is a former Gamma Law summer associate and law clerk. While a law student, she served as UC Irvine Law Review production editor, Journal of International, Transnational, and Comparative Law staff editor and co-chair of the Entertainment and Sports Law Society. Sanderson speaks Japanese and has spent a significant amount of time in Japan.

Amy's strong legal skills and deep understanding of the business sectors we support, as well as her international perspective, make her an outstanding addition to the Gamma Law team.”

Hoppe.

Originally from Hawaii, Sanderson previously served as a legal intern with film producer Trigold Entertainment and the International Justice Clinic at UC Irvine and performed pro bono work with the Veterans Administration Benefits Appellate Project.

“I am thrilled to join one of the most innovative law firms in video games, blockchain, esports and VR/AR law,” Sanderson said. “I had a great experience with the firm as a law clerk and summer associate and look forward to applying and growing my expertise and skills as a lawyer supporting Gamma Law clients.”
