DALLAS, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, September 6, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Richard Rawlings, the high-octane personality who created Dallas' Gas Monkey Garage, doesn't do anything small, and that includes deciding to sell some of his prized car collection. Rawlings, star of Discovery Channel's Fast N' Loud, has made the decision to auction off 25+ vehicles from his collection in an entirely no-reserve auction event.

Richard Rawlings is auctioning more than 25 vehicles in a no reserve auction.

Rawlings made the decision to auction his collection with Bring a Trailer (BaT), an industry disrupter that has revolutionized the automotive auction process for high-end and unique vehicles. BaT is the largest collector and enthusiast vehicle auction platform, and its community-based model creates engagement and excitement around auction listings not found on any other auction stage.

I've been reflecting on what I want to keep and I finally reached the decision to sell most of my collection. I want to reinvest in hot rods with super big pedigrees.”

The Gas Monkey Garage auction will begin at 10 a.m. PT on Wednesday, Sept. 7. Auction closeout will begin at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 14 and will be live streamed on GasMonkeyGarage.com. Buyers should pre-register for the auction at <https://bringatrailer.com/2022/09/02/bat-presents-the-gas-monkey-garage-collection/>.

“Bring a Trailer is the perfect partner to auction the Gas Monkey collection,” Rawlings said. “This platform really is the future of automotive auction. Adding the live stream with some VIP guests and buyers at our garage allows me to really share the history and fine details of each of these amazing vehicles.”

The automotive entrepreneur lauds the cost savings that BaT offers to both buyers and sellers.

“Traditionally, a seller would have to ship their whole collection to an auction house and take on travel costs, and then perhaps pay to ship everything home,” Rawlings said. “Now, we can share our collections with buyers around the world, and BaT caps their fees at $5,000 per vehicle. It is an amazing cost savings.”

Highlights of the Gas Monkey collection include:

- King T, a custom Ford Model T built by hotrod legend Gene Winfield. It won the 1964 Oakland Roadster Show’s Most Beautiful Roadster Award and later was memorialized as both a Hot Wheels car and a MPC model kit.
- 1965 Ford Mustang Fastback K-Code 5-Speed with a complete refurbishment by Thoroughbred Restorations of Oklahoma City.
- 1972 Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme Convertible 6-Speed customized by the team at Hot Rods by Dean in Phoenix.
- Easyriders Custom Chopper commissioned by the founding editor of Easyriders magazine, Keith "Bandit" Ball. It was featured both in Easyriders magazine and in season 16 of Fast N' Loud.

A full listing of all 25+ vehicles with detailed vehicle history collected by the BaT team can be found here: <https://bringatrailer.com/2022/09/02/bat-presents-the-gas-monkey-garage-collection/>.

Additionally, Rawlings has added a unique auction item, a private tour for four people to visit the Gas Monkey Garage in Dallas and a behind-the-scenes experience with all the Monkeys including a private tour and lunch. All proceeds from this auction item will benefit the Gas Monkey

Gas Monkey and Bring a Trailer are partnering on an amazing No Reserve auction

Foundation, which serves not only people in the garage industry in trouble but also veterans, children and the elderly.

When asked about the plans to sell his collection, Rawlings describes his decision as akin to hoping to turn a beer budget into champagne dreams.

"I've been reflecting on what I want to keep and I finally reached the decision to sell most of my collection," Rawlings said. "I want to reinvest in hot rods with super big pedigrees. I want Mercedes, Ferraris, Lamborghinis and more."

The Gas Monkey auction is a landmark event for Bring a Trailer.

"We're excited that Richard partnered with Bring a Trailer as his preferred auction venue to sell his special collection. This is the largest single-owner collection to sell in a single auction event of this kind. The variety of vehicles offered really shows how diverse Richard's collection has become," said Bring a Trailer founder Randy Nonnenberg. "Auctioning online will take full advantage of Gas Monkey Garage's huge fan base in combination with the extensive BaT auction community. We are excited for a very active conclusion to all the auctions as they count down on that final day."

In addition to the auction, Gas Monkey Garage is also offering fans the chance to win a 1968 Mustang Gas Monkey-built replica of the vehicle made famous in The Thomas Crown Affair. More details on the sweepstakes can be found at gasmonkeygarage.com.
