The global alopecia treatment market size was valued at $2,736 million in 2018, and is projected to reach $3,935 million by 2026, growing at a CAGR of 4.6% from 2019 to 2026. Alopecia, also known as hair loss or baldness, refers to hair loss from the part of head or body. The condition can happen in both female & male and at any age. There are five major kind of alopecia to be specific such as androgenic alopecia, alopecia areata, alopecia totalis, cicatricial alopecia, and telogen effluvium. Alopecia areata is an autoimmune disorder, which attacks the hair follicles and causes hair fall or breakage of hair leading to complete baldness. The cause of male-pattern alopecia and female-pattern alopecia include hormonal changes, hereditary condition, radiation therapy to the head, stress, and certain medications & supplements. Alopecia treatment plays a main role in advanced healthcare, as it helps in prevention of hair fall and regrowth of hair.
