

Grandeur Peak Promotes Juliette Douglas to Director of Research and Rob Green to Director of Quantitative Research

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, USA, September 6, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Grandeur Peak Global Advisors® announced that Juliette Douglas has been promoted to the role of Director of Research. Ms. Douglas has been serving as the Deputy Director of Research for the last several years and this is a natural evolution of her role at the firm. Rob Green, who had been the Director of Research, moved into a newly created role as Director of Quantitative Research. Rob had been wearing both hats and will now be able to focus, with a dedicated team, on the important role that screening and quantitative research plays in narrowing down a universe of 70k+ stocks globally into the most interesting potential investments.

Said Blake Walker, CEO, "These are both great moves for the evolution of our process and our firm. Juliette understands and embraces the Grandeur Peak research process with passion and detail. She is great at keeping the team on task and focused, while being open and looking for ways we can improve our process. Rob, candidly, has had an overstuffed plate. Quantitative analysis has always been part of his work, but we believe there is much more we can be doing on this front to complement the work of our fundamental research team. We recently hired a senior software engineer, Will VanDenBerghe, and a data analyst, Jacob Grant, onto the quant team and we are excited about the work they will do in enhanced screening and to sharpen our insights from the growing body of data we have on companies across the globe.
