Market Overview:

Home Healthcare offers a wide range of healthcare services given from home for the treatment of disease or injury. The diverse industry includes infusion services, home skilled nursing and physical therapy and is often referred as home medical care. The home care services are usually less expensive, highly convenient to the patients, equally effective to the hospital care units or skilled nursing facility. Increasing prevalence of chronic diseases is expected to propel growth of the global home healthcare market over the forecast period.

Market Segments:

The epidemic of Covid-19 pandemic adversely impacted several industries. The virus outbreak in China spread across more than 100 countries around the world due to which many countries announced stringent lockdown regulations across nations in order to curb the virus spread. Several industrial operations were disrupted during this period as many businesses were closed down. The pandemic negatively impacted many markets including the one in discussion as product demand and sales significantly declined during the pandemic. However, as the pandemic situation goes back to normal, the market is likely to regain growth.

Key Players:

The global home healthcare market was valued at US$ 279,541.7 Mn in 2019 and is forecast to reach a value of US$ 525,833.3 Mn by 2027 at a CAGR of 8.2% between 2020 and 2027. Increasing expenditure in home healthcare is expected to propel growth of the global home healthcare market over the forecast period

Services segment held dominant position in the global home healthcare market in 2019, accounting for 81.3% share in terms of value, increasing incidence of chronic diseases along with increasing technological advancement is expected to drive the segment growth during the forecast period.

However, dearth of global standardization in the Home Healthcare market all over the world is likely to hamper growth of the global Home Healthcare market over the forecast period.
