

Wencor announces an exclusive, multi-year defense channel partnership with AMETEK Sensors and Fluid Management Systems

PEACHTREE CITY, GA, USA, September 12, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- AMETEK Sensors and Fluid Management Systems has selected Wencor as its exclusive distributor supporting global military and government aftermarket. The agreement includes aircraft and engine sensors for temperature, pressure, flow, fluid level, acceleration, proximity, speed and position, supporting key military platforms in the aerospace and defense market segments.

"We are excited to partner with AMETEK SFMS and their market-leading offerings. Their diverse product and technical engineering capabilities, combined with our extensive defense portfolio and value-added services will expand our opportunities to the defense markets. Wencor prides ourselves in our ability to provide innovative solutions that enable reliability, material availability and cost efficiencies for our customers and this partnership will enhance these deliverables," said Wencor President of Defense, Scott Herndon.

Elaine O'Neill, Vice President and Business Unit Manager of AMETEK Sensors and Fluid Management, noted, "This partnership allows us to effectively service the military aftermarket with our broad product offering of highly engineered technology solutions."
