NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, September 8, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- SmarterSign, a leading provider of digital menu board software, is excited to announce integration with the Square POS system for restaurants. With this new integration, SmarterSign is making it easier for restaurants who use Square to take advantage of the benefits of digital menu boards. With pricing changes happening on a regular basis, this integration helps automate digital menu board changes and simplify restaurant operations.

SmarterSign puts restaurants in complete control of their menu boards. Digital menu boards offer restaurants a number of advantages over traditional paper menus, including the ability to dynamically update prices and promotions, and to tailor the menu display to specific times of day or week. With the new integration with Square POS, restaurants will be able to seamlessly update their pricing in real-time, making it even easier to take advantage of these benefits.

"We're excited to integrate with Square to provide restaurants with an even easier way to use digital signage," said SmarterSign CEO Gregg Zinn. "This integration will make it simpler than ever for restaurants to take advantage of the many benefits of SmarterSign's digital menu boards system."

The Square integration is easy to use and takes only minutes to set up. As with all aspects of the SmarterSign system, the Square integration is designed to be used without programming. The system is designed to be easy to use for people with any skill level. Any changes made in a restaurant's Square POS system will transparently trigger pricing changes on the digital menu boards in real-time.
