

EXCLUSIVE SINGAPORE PREMIERE OF “ALL THE LORD’S MEN” AT THE PROJECTOR GOLDEN MILE, SEPTEMBER 16-22

FILMMAKER ANDREW BURTON BRINGS CRITICALLY ACCLAIMED US INDEPENDENT FILM TO ASIAN AUDIENCES

LOS ANGELES, CA, USA, September 8, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Indie comedy “All The Lord’s Men,” written and directed by American filmmaker Andrew Burton, will make its Asian premiere in Singapore exclusively at The Projector, Golden Mile Tower on September 16 at 7:30 p.m. The critically acclaimed film, released through Burton’s production company Burton Pictures, will be shown in the cinema’s Blue Room through September 22, and tickets are available through Peatix.

“All The Lord’s Men” features Jerry (Noel Mirabal) and Jimmy (Andrew Burton) as two unskilled detectives in Los Angeles who fall under the influence of a mysterious cult leader while on a mission to nowhere. This cult leader, a certain Dr. Busner, (Matt Fling), is joined by an ensemble of societal castaways as he seeks to integrate his vision for a new world with the demands of Myra (Iris Braydon) from Geneva, a woman who claims to be the new God. As we follow these characters on their investigations into the veracity of Myra’s claims, we begin to ask ourselves, like Jimmy and Jerry do, whether reality can ever really be real.

The film stars Andrew Burton, Noel Mirabal, Matt Fling, Iris Braydon, Ilia Volo, William Castrogiovanni, Ayden Skye, Rachel Pendinoff, and Olivier Riquelme. The film was written and directed by Andrew Burton.

“This film is for people who liked the films Inherent Vice and The Big Lebowski and the satirical buddy-cop movie Kung Fury,” said Andrew Burton. “Fans of the hit TV show Miami Vice and David
