With new fiscal transaction modes resulting in financial lawsuits on firms & individuals are likely to steer the expansion of legal services industry in the ensuing years. Apart from this, legal service providers are involved in third-party law suit financing activities and legal financing, thereby creating new growth avenues for the legal services industry across the globe. Apparently, favorable government laws and liberalization of laws and less number of procedures to acquire license for carrying out legal services will pave a way for the growth of the legal services industry in the forthcoming years. Outsourcing of legal services is gaining prominence to save costs and this will boost the market trends. Rapid urbanization and globalization are likely to play a key role in shaping the growth of the legal services market in the near future.
