What Sets Us Apart: Skilled, Trained Infusion Nurses

Our infusion nurses are rigorously screened and trained in the safe administration of the latest home infusion therapies. Here are some of the ways we ensure that our infusion nurses provide the highest quality of care to patients.

Our home infusion nurses are:

- Skilled at inserting and maintaining IV catheters—including PICCS, PORTS, and midline catheters.
 - Required to pass skills assessment tests to ensure they are in compliance with home infusion skills.
 - Required to shadow experienced nurses before practicing at ACHC.
 - Accustomed to working closely with pharmacies and medical partners to administer home infusion medication exactly as prescribed.
- Skilled and trained in using the latest IV equipment and supplies.
 - Available as quickly as needed.
 - Led by a team of highly experienced clinicians that include a highly responsive administrative staff.

We Cover a Range of IV Therapies

When it comes to providing safe and effective IV treatment, our infusion nurses monitor patients every step of the way by managing tubing, maintaining catheters and immediately addressing any complications or issues that may arise. Here are some of the IV therapies we administer:

- IVIG
- Antibiotics
- Blood products
- Total Parenteral Nutrition (TPN)
- Biologics, REMICADE®, ENTYVIO®, PROLASTIN® and other specialty therapies

“We are proud to be partnering with pharmacies to provide more New York residents home infusion services in the comfort of home,” said Randi Ribakove, Vice President of Home Infusion Services at Always Compassionate Home Care. “Our new home infusion division is testament to
