COVID-19 Scenario:

The outbreak of COVID-19 has had a negative impact on the growth of the global hair transplant market, owing to the occurrence of lockdown in various countries across the globe.

Lockdowns resulted in the cancellation or postponement of all sorts of non-essential surgical procedures due to the subsequent surge in the cases of COVID-19 in various countries.

Hair transplant procedures are non-emergency procedures that significantly hamper the revenue of hair transplant clinics. More and more healthcare professionals in hospitals and clinics were increasingly focussed on treating COVID-infected patients, which further decreased the demand for hair transplant procedures.

However, the market is expected to recoup soon.
