Jawbone strength and density are important factors in dental implant success.”

Dr. Matthew Lang

Center Valley Dental offers single-implant treatments, as well as full-arch treatments. Dental implants are placed in the jaw using a titanium screw. Then a custom-made crown is placed on top of the screw, giving the implant a natural look and feel and restoring smiling and chewing capabilities.

Dental implants have a success rate of over 90%, and supplemental procedures like bone grafts and sinus lifts are available to help improve this success rate. The cost of both treatments is included in the price of implants. The team at Center Valley Dental will ensure that patients are strong candidates.

“Jawbone strength and density are important factors in dental implant success,” says Dr. Matthew Lang, dentist in Center Valley. These supplemental treatments strengthen the jawbone.

During a consultation, Dr. Lang and his team will walk patients through the dental implant procedure and help them improve the likelihood of success.
