Each year, this beloved tradition has served as the biggest reminder for celebrating the bond among Naples' growing communities and recognizing the efforts of local farmers and businesses in providing a bounty of food and clothing for the people.

Farm City proudly announces this year's honorary chair will be Dr. Kamela Patton, who is serving her final year as the Superintendent of Collier County Public Schools. "The youth development programs supported by Farm City BBQ align with Collier School's strategic plan of preparing the students to be college, career, and life ready. Every year, I look forward to participating in the Farm City BBQ to connect with our community leaders, families, and the students that are helping build a better future for all of Collier County," said Dr. Kamela Patton.
