Throughout History, The Smart Money knows that it is not how much Money one earns. The key is how much Money a person gets to keep.

Managing one's Money and Taxes is a skill-set that is learned. It's a choice to get proactive and get involved in one's taxes instead of just blindly paying them.

Managing Money is different than Making Money. What's the point of working hard to make money, and then mismanage your hard-earned savings by overpaying your Income Taxes due to simple neglect?
