WordPresto is a both a product and service that seeks to provide people with a customized web design experience that utilizes WordPress as the core content management system as its web platform. WordPresto aims to provide interactive and customized web design technologies and services coupled with affordable ongoing support and maintenance. Our team aims to work from the ground up to quickly and affordably create an eloquent website that gives users a custom look and feel. With WordPresto, all you need to do is communicate your needs, provide ongoing feedback and let our experts do the rest. It starts with selecting a website package that best suits your company's needs based on the industry, overall goals and objectives, and other marketing efforts that are in place. Each website package includes image and software licensing, professional design and development, updates and security patches, enterprise hosting, project management, and ongoing support and maintenance.

The launch event will be hosted by Larry Lehoux, the Company's President, and Chief Technology Officer, who states "WordPresto is the first scheduled launch of a new line of products which are in the process of being developed by CEN. We are very excited to bring forth and continue seeking to develop leading consumer and business-focused products that utilize Artificial Intelligence-based technologies designed to make website development and maintenance more efficient and affordable. CEN has fully embraced the power of Artificial Intelligence and intends to design a series of products and services that utilize A.I. technologies to make everyday life easier, more efficient informative and entertaining."
