About MNS Talent and Consulting LLC

MNS Talent and Consulting is managed by CEO, Mia Still Osorno, who has worked in the recruiting and talent acquisition space for over a decade. Her curriculum vitae includes experience working with agencies, corporate Human Resources, and small start-up companies that have 10 employees and companies with over 10,000 employees. In these roles, she identified similarities that cost organizations an exuberant amount of time and money - the issue wasn't because of lack of money or time, but mostly because there were not resources or systems developed to focus on employee attraction and retention.

To address this issue, in early 2021, Mia decided to build a company that focused on the most important part of any organization no matter what the size, employees.
