Simo Elbaz helps illegal immigrants

Every month the Department of State publishes the Visa Bulletin – a bulletin that explains which types of green card applications can be submitted to USCIS based on when the applicant filed their I-130 petition form. This bulletin is used to determine when green card applicants are able to move forward out of the USCIS backlog based on the availability of green card classes they are applying for, and can be thought of as a queue or line. You wait your turn for your green card application to be current, and when it is, you move forward.

There are a lot of people in the world who need help but don't have anyone to turn to. That's where Simo Elbaz comes in. He does free service to illegal immigrants and helps them get on their feet. He does this because he knows how hard it is to live in a foreign country without any support. He wants to ensure everyone has a fair chance at life, no matter where they come from.

Simo Elbaz is a true humanitarian who loves helping people who cannot help themselves. This can make a big difference in the lives of illegal immigrants, and it is something that this lawyer is very passionate about.

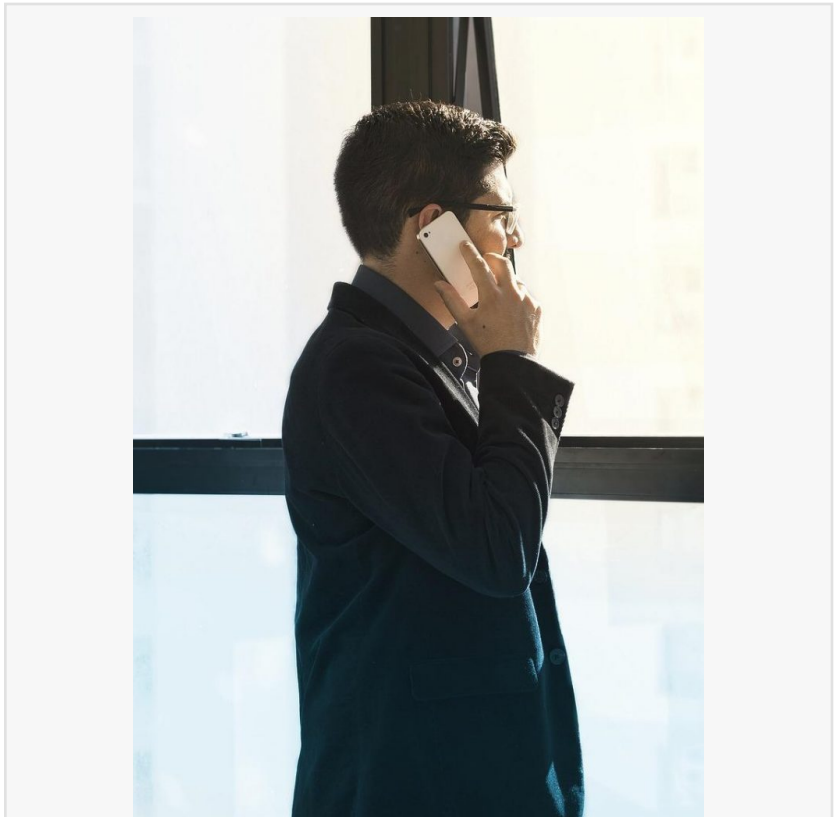

why is it so important to have the right legal advice when it comes to immigration?

A green Card holder (permanent resident) is someone who has been granted authorization to live and work in the United States on a permanent basis. As proof of that status, a person is granted a permanent resident card, commonly called a "Green Card." You can become a permanent resident in several different ways. Most individuals are sponsored by a family member or employer in the United States.

The steps to becoming a Green Card holder (permanent resident) vary by category and depend on whether you currently live inside or outside the United States. The main categories are:

There are many ways to help those who are in need, and Simo Elbaz a lawyer is doing just that by providing free services to illegal immigrants. He wants to help people who are in need and provide them with legal help.

Immigration law refers to the national statutes, regulations, and legal precedents governing immigration into and deportation from a country. Strictly speaking, it is distinct from other matters such as naturalization and citizenship, although they are sometimes conflated.[citation needed] Countries frequently maintain laws that regulate both the rights of entry and exit as well as internal rights, such as the duration of stay, freedom of movement, and the right to participate in commerce or government.[citation
