A hand dryer (also known as a jet dryer) is a device that uses forced air to accelerate the evaporation water from your hands. Albert Sobel, an American inventor, filed the first patent for a handheld dryer in 1908. Hand dryers weren't commercially available until the 1940s. Hand dryers of the past were noisy and slow, but modern dryers are more efficient and can be found in public bathrooms. Hand dryers offer many advantages over traditional paper towels. They are
