The Gator's relationship with Good Greek, secured on behalf of the Athletic Association by Learfield's Florida Gators Sports Properties team, includes the unveiling of the newly designed equipment truck under the direction of Gators' Head Coach Billy Napier. There will also be branding at Ben Hill Griffin Stadium (aka "The Swamp") for all University of Florida home games. In addition, the Gators Sports Network from Learfield football radio broadcasts will continue the now recognizable "Moving the Chains by Good Greek Moving & Storage" live mention after every first down for each game this season.

“We are thrilled to announce our extension with Good Greek,” Director of Football Equipment Jeff McGrew said. “As the Official Moving Partner of the Florida Gators, this commitment is indicative of Good Greek’s deep passion and support of our athletic programs. We look forward to strengthening this relationship over the years ahead, and I want to personally thank Good Greek Moving & Storage for their support of the Florida Gators.” Good Greek will also be featured in Florida Gators’ basketball broadcasts throughout the state of Florida, and the company will be promoting Good Greek Total Relocation Services to Gators fans, alumni, staff, and students on a year-round basis.
