COVID-19 Scenario Analysis:

Aircraft galley production is going to be more agile after the end of COVID-19.

The supply chain disruption is expected to affect the future growth of the companies due to lockdown.

The revenue is not being generated for the companies due to the ongoing pandemic, which will result in major losses across the year.

Companies have to deal on a significant margin basis to revive the market.

A huge monetary loss has been accounted for in the revenue generation of the aircraft galley companies due to the lockdown.

Increased passenger traffic to boost the demand

Air travel among the individuals is rapidly increasing due to factors such as increase in disposable income, change in lifestyle, competitive airline services, and others. This also is driving the demand for aircraft galleys. Moreover, growth in competition in the airline industry fuels the marketers to introduce better services in form of aircraft galleys. Therefore, to retain the market share and grab customer attention, aircraft galleys play an integral role, which in turn is proliferating the demand for the global aircraft galley market.

Modernization initiatives to foster the growth

Services are considered as the distinctive feature in the airlines industry as better services have a positive impact on business prospects. In addition, the leading market players are enhancing the level of services offered in aircraft by modernizing the aircraft. Further, the fleet expansion initiatives of the airline operators due to increased passenger footfall drives the demand for the aircraft galley market. Furthermore, the aviation industry also witnesses a significant demand from the low-cost carrier (LCC) models. However, this aircraft focus on increasing the number of onboard passengers but the space constraints compromise on various aspects such as inflight refreshment. This also is proliferating opportunities for the aircraft galley market to modernize their existing systems and develop customized galleys with reduced weight and sizes that fit well in less space. Such factors are expected to fuel the growth of the global market for aircraft galleys.
