Global Bone Growth Stimulator Market Report

A bone growth stimulator represents the medical device used to boost the healing process of bones after a spinal fusion surgery or fracture. It usually relies on ultrasonic or pulsed electromagnetic waves to aid the body in tissue repairing and cell creation while increasing bone density. In addition to this, a bone growth stimulator offers various benefits, including a painless healing process and low complication rates as compared to other invasive methods. Consequently, it finds extensive applications in hospitals, clinics, home care centers, etc.

COVID-19 Impact on Market: (Positive Impact)

As the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) crisis takes over the world, we are continuously tracking the changes in the markets, as well as the industry behaviors of the consumers globally and our estimates about the latest market trends and forecasts are being done after considering the impact of this pandemic.

Global Bone Growth Stimulator Market Trends and Drivers:

The growing prevalence of diabetes, arthritis, and other medical conditions, such as obesity, vascular disease, renal disorders, etc., is primarily driving the bone growth stimulator market. Additionally, the expanding geriatric population and the rising sports-related orthopedic injuries among individuals, on account of poor training practices, improper equipment, insufficient warm-up and stretching, lack of conditioning, etc., are further catalyzing the market growth.

Besides this, the escalating demand for minimally invasive (MI) procedures, owing to their fewer operative complications, shorter hospitalization, less pain, reduced postoperative care, quicker recovery, smaller and more cosmetic incisions, lower risk of infection, etc., is acting as another significant growth-inducing factor. Moreover, the increasing awareness among physicians, surgeons, and patients towards the benefits of bone growth stimulators for spinal fusion and bone healing is also augmenting the global market. Apart from this, the elevating investments in medical equipment and devices are anticipated to fuel the bone growth stimulator market over the forecasted period.
