Profitable since third month of inception, over the network's twenty year run, they have developed a loyal following of over 19 million listeners a year in 137 countries across 75 syndicated and simulcast channels.

"Despite the challenges and changing landscape throughout the radio industry, we still experience continuous growth in our listener base worldwide, which is a remarkable testament to the premise of positive talk and of course, our knowledgeable and entertaining content and vetted hosts," states Linda Mackenzie.

"I could go on about the success of our weekday 'facts without fear' news program or how our lifestyle, only natural health and South Bay community programs are so well received. Instead let me sum up the success of HealthyLife.net by saying we have never been better. Over the years our positive programs have helped millions of listeners lead happy, healthy lives. We're not just radio. We've become a lifestyle for people interested in NOT perpetrating fear but want to expand the greater good to all. That was our original mission. We continue to accomplish that. Now that's something huge to celebrate!"
