Instant coffee, also known as soluble coffee, refers to a kind of beverage made by grinding roasted coffee beans. It is generally available in different forms, including powder, crystals, and concentrated liquid. In comparison to brewed coffee, instant coffee contains higher amounts of antioxidants and minerals, such as magnesium, potassium, niacin, etc. It also helps in improving brain function, boosting metabolism, facilitating weight loss, etc. As a result, it is gaining traction across the GCC region, especially among the working population.

Note: Our analysts are continuously monitoring the influence of the COVID-19 pandemic on the market. This insightful information is included in the report to improve the efficiency, resilience and overall performance of businesses.

GCC Instant coffee Industry Trends and Drivers:

The escalating penetration of western food trends, shifting dietary habits, and inflating disposable income levels are among the primary factors driving the GCC instant coffee market. Moreover, the growing exposure to specialty and premium instant coffee via social media platforms, foreign travel, on-trade outlets, etc., is stimulating the demand for a wide range of new flavor content, such as cardamom bun, green bean, Italian roast, ginger-bread cookie, French vanilla, chocolate caramel, etc. This, in turn, is fueling the regional market. Besides this, the introduction of innovative packaging formats, including single-serve packs that are more convenient to consume and carry, is further creating a positive outlook for the market. Apart from this, the launch of organic product variants that target specific health conditions is anticipated to fuel the GCC instant coffee market over the forecasted period.
