Banyan Treatment Centers, one of the fastest growing networks for detox, mental health, and addiction treatment in the nation, has introduced telehealth services in the state of Florida for adults seeking treatment for addiction or mental health services. The new telehealth system provides patients with easier access to their healthcare providers. It eliminates travel time, allowing patients to focus on family, work, and other recovery-related goals. This will make treatment options more accessible and easier to use for patients.

Banyan Treatment Centers has polished their telehealth program and it is now readily available for Florida residents. Benefits of telehealth include the following:

- Case management services
- Support from staff for continued care and evaluation
- Individual counseling
- Family counseling
- Addiction education
- Intervention services
- Monitoring

Our Telehealth treatment for substance use and mental health treatment at Banyan includes:

- Free bio-psychosocial assessment upon admission
- Therapy sessions are offered on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday
- Operation times are from 6 pm-9 pm EST

The ideal candidate for telehealth services is adults struggling with addiction or mental health issues, first responders, active-duty personnel, college students, or entrepreneurs who need counseling but may find it difficult to attend in-person treatment.

In addition to the virtual group and individual therapy from telehealth, the program offers faith-based counseling, family counseling, and alumni support once the patient has completed treatment. All you need to use telehealth services is a cell phone or laptop with internet access and a camera to operate Zoom software.
