COVID-19 scenario analysis

The COVID-19 pandemic had the most sudden and substantial impact on the arts and cultural heritage sector. The global health crisis and the uncertainly resulting from it profoundly affected the organization's operations as well as individuals both employed and independent across the globe.

The arts and culture sector organizations attempted to uphold their mission to provide access to cultural heritage to the community while reacting to the unexpected change in their business model with an unknown end.

The most cultural institutions across the globe were indefinitely closed or at least with their services radically curtailed, and in-person exhibitions, events, and performances were canceled or postponed.

The additional services through digital platforms, to maintain essential activities with minimal resources, and to document the events themselves through new acquisitions, including new creative works inspired by the pandemic.
