L.A.B return with 'Fashion Dread Dub' a dubbed out version of their original track 'Fashion Dread' which arrives alongside a live mixdown video.

'Fashion Dread Dub' is the second single to arrive from L.A.B's upcoming album L.A.B In Dub (to be released October 21), a ten-track album featuring an array of dubbed-out L.A.B tracks from Italian producer Paolo Baldini DubFiles.

This collection of tracks has been lovingly crafted by Baldini at his Alambic Conspiracy Studio in San Foca, Italy. Each dub has been created live in the studio, with Baldini working live on the stems of each track. These new versions are all created in one take with no overdubs or edits, creating entirely new versions.

L.A.B In Dub sees Baldini adding his spin on dub to an eclectic range of 10 originals from L.A.B. Given the blessing of the band, Baldini took his pick from L.A.B's catalogue, one which includes number one singles & multi-platinum tracks. However, the resulting collection combines some deeper cuts from the catalogue with some of the more well-known tracks. Staples of their unmatched live set such as 'Baby Will You Let Me' and 'Rocketship' appear, alongside tracks like 'Like Fire' and 'Running' which have never been performed live.

A lovingly crafted release inspired and driven by the dub sound that serves as a constant inspiration, L.A.B In Dub is a special album made not only for dub lovers, but also one which will look to bring new fans to the way of the dub.

The single, Fashion Dread Dub - based on the track from L.A.B's studio album, L.A.B II - will be released on September 23rd.

The single signposts the release of the full ten-track album, L.A.B In Dub on October 21st.

Pre-orders for the album are available now.
