NEW YORK (September 26, 2022) – Aviation Week Network's MRO Europe (#MROE), the largest gathering of the aviation aftermarket community in Europe, will be held October 18-20 at the ExCeL London.

With more than 400 exhibitors, 7,000 attendees, 30+ expert speakers, and a senior level attendee profile from airlines, OEMs, MROs, suppliers, lessors, and service providers, MRO Europe provides genuine opportunities for those looking to do business in the commercial aviation aftermarket. Vetted buyers from airline operators and engine/aircraft lessors will be represented at the event, both as speakers at the conference and as attendees to the exhibition.

The three-day senior level conference will focus on addressing the biggest challenges facing the European MRO industry and preparing for what's next.

The exhibition hall features show floor content at two free-to-attend theaters. The Go Live! Theatre will see short and exciting case studies and panels on topics including; Sustainability, New Technology and Innovation, Digitalisation and Consolidation. The Zones Theater offers the chance to hear short presentations on new products and solutions from exhibitors within the hangar equipment, EASA services zones.

“We are delighted to return to London for the first time since 2019, where we will offer numerous networking and learning opportunities,” said Lydia Janow, Senior Vice President of Events for Aviation Week Network. “Our theme at the conference is resilience. We’ve all been through a tough couple of years, and we will address the challenges facing the industry today and how to prepare for the future.”

The conference agenda will feature presentations by industry experts and top airline executives including speakers from Aer Lingus, easyJet, LOT Polish Airlines, Ryanair, Vueling and Wizz Air, and more.
