formed so each one could focus on their respective industries. 21st Century Energy provides EPA-approved low-toxic, environmentally friendly biocide to the oil and gas industry used downhole for remediation and elimination of highly toxic hydrogen sulfide (H₂S) and its associated bacteria. H₂S can destroy equipment, delay, or cancel the sale of produced oil, add to the disposal costs of byproducts, and create a safety risk to those working around the well site, or in the transportation, processing of produced products. Refineries pay more per barrel for sweet oil than oil containing H₂S or from sour wells allowing oil producers to maximize profits. Our biocide is also used by the fracking industry to disinfect fracking water facilities. 21st Century Energy, Inc. shipped (3) large volume machines to the oil service company last week.
