Market Overview (2017-2027)

Forecast CAGR (2022-2027): 3%

The stringent government regulations, along with the support of building contractors to reduce the carbon footprint in the residential and commercial construction projects, is driving the demand for green cement. The rapid urbanisation and the increasing standards of living are likely to propel the growth further in the coming years.

Moreover, the rising application of green cements in the mass construction projects including dams, bridges, and retaining walls, among others, is anticipated to accelerate the market growth in the forecast period. In terms of region, the Asia Pacific region accounts for a significant share of the market owing to the increasing construction demands in India and China due to the presence of large population base.

Green Cement Industry Definition and Major Segments

The type of cement which is produced with the help of carbon-negative manufacturing process is defined as green cement. Calcined clay and limestone are the major components of green cements. The emission of toxic gases and elements is minimised during the production of this cement. Moreover, the major characteristics of green cement include reduced porosity, crack resistance, durability, and robust mechanical strength.

On the basis of product type, the market can be segmented into:

- Fly Ash-Based
- Slag-Based
- Limestone-Based
- Silica Fume-Based

Based on end-use, the market has been classified into:

- Residential
- Non-Residential
- Others

The regional markets for green cement include:

- North America
- Europe
- Asia Pacific
- Latin America
- Middle East and Africa

Green Cement Market Trends

The key trends in the green cement market include the rising investments in the multi-housing and various commercial construction projects. The increasing popularity of cements with good thermal and acid resistance, which can be attributed to the changing climate owing to the increasing pollution and global warming, is likely to be another key trend in the market.

Moreover, the increasing efforts by the government to reduce the emission of carbon dioxide are anticipated to propel the demand for the product in the coming years. The increasing inclination of building contractors towards using eco-friendly cements with high mechanical strength is likely to provide further impetus to the market in the forecast period.

Key Market Players

The major players in the market are CEMEX S.A.B. de C.V., HeidelbergCement AG, UltraTech Cement Ltd., and LafargeHolcim Ltd, among others. The report covers the market shares, capacities, plant turnarounds, expansions, investments and mergers and acquisitions, among other latest developments of these market players.
