Cyber Future Foundation, “we are excited at the opportunity of working with Kelley School of Business at Indiana University, a leader in online business education, leading this field with some of the best known faculties in the cyber policy realm, to kick off our educational services with the Global Cybersecurity Policy Certification”.

“The Kelley School of Business at IU is thrilled to partner with CFF in this exciting new offering, which builds from the unique strengths of both organizations. Cybersecurity is a shared enterprise, a team sport. We need to work together to break down silos, and build bridges to promote cyber peace by protecting vulnerable critical infrastructure providers, intellectual property, and privacy. Participants in this innovative badge
