Expanding IT Outsourcing Services for Singapore into Johor Bahru, Malaysia

SINGAPORE, September 29, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Post COVID

After the COVID, there is a strong demand for IT Outsourcing Services for Singapore. Due to high inflation leading to high cost of living, many have resorted to high-paying jobs in the gig economy despite knowing the fact that there is lack of future career advancement and prospects. It is just about life priorities and choices.

Expanding

Challenges Faced

More companies in Singapore are finding it very difficult to fill up the vacancies for their IT-related jobs, like IT Support Engineers, Software Developers, Digital Marketers, Database Administrators, and Data Analysts. They are also resorted to employ foreign talent from neighboring companies into Singapore. However, MOM has tightened their employment eligibility and issuance for Employment Pass (EP). This has also impacted the ability to hire entry level or mid level IT talents.
