

Elite Dental Group Expands Service Offering To House One-Stop Athlete Oral Health and Wellness

Elite Dental Group will be releasing an updated service offering centered on one-stop athlete oral health and wellness.

SINGAPORE, SG, SINGAPORE, October 3, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Elite Dental Group's expansion, which will be headed by dentist Dr Thira Wong – a dentist with a unique interest in recovering the looks and function of broken and chipped teeth damaged by sports trauma, focuses on providing high quality, dedicated dental care to athletes and sportsmen in Southeast Asia.

The decision to create a comprehensive community-focused dental area for athletes and sportsmen came because of Dr Gerald Tan's – the founder and managing director of Elite Dental Group – avid passion for tennis, and his realization that sportsmen had different dental and oral health requirements.

sportsmen and those active in sports can come knowing that the clinic can go above and beyond in providing the support and treatment that they require”

“As a previous competitive tennis player, having the support of a dental professional who knows what you are facing can make a phenomenal difference in both your oral and physical shape.” Dr Gerald Tan muses. “With a more personalized care plan that has been shaped to work specifically with athletes, sportsmen and those active in sports can come knowing that the clinic can go above and beyond in providing the support and treatment that they require.”

Dr Thira Wong adds “Dental preventative care in sports dentistry often refers to preventing teeth from breaking with mouthguards, or preventing loss of teeth with restorative treatments like dental implants. But prevention to me means preventing unnecessary health problems that impact your overall fitness and performance.”

“We usually attribute the success of athletes to the genetics, the level of physical fitness they have and the professional training and coaching that they receive. The truth is, the success of athletes and the maintenance of their elite performance means combining regulated physical fitness with oral health maintenance.”

The boutique cosmetic and restorative dental clinic located in the heart of Orchard has a strategic long-term plan to work on community-focused dental care that are centered on key groups such as pre-wedding couples who are looking for a smile makeover, as well as couples who are seeking fertility treatment support and require a green bill of health.

Traditional dental care has often focused on treatment-specific centers. The long-term plan for Elite Dental Group is to build truly patient-centered care that focuses on communities and this in essence is what makes Elite Dental Group elite.
