"This national certification means we continue to meet the highest standards for patient care and employment of healthcare professionals. This year marks the 6th that Care Staffing Professionals has delivered quality healthcare to the state of California," said D'Andre Lampkin, HSEM,

Founder, Chief Executive Officer, and owner of Care Staffing Professionals. "I continue to be incredibly proud of the Care Staffing Professionals Leadership Team and the healthcare professionals we employ every day. I am also proud that we had the resources to employ 106 new healthcare workers from the greater Ontario, California region during the pandemic, at a time when members of the community where our headquarters is located were losing their jobs and being furloughed. The members of my Leadership Team are truly heroes in many ways."

To prepare for the accreditation process, Care Staffing Professionals conducted an audit of its personnel files to ensure each healthcare professional currently employed by the organization met state standards. Care Staffing Professionals also conducted an annual review and update of its Emergency Management - Business Continuity Plan and employment policies and practices.
