This is because of the growing awareness about the advantages of this radiation therapy globally. Thus, following the current trends the global gamma knife market is set to exhibit a CAGR of 3.03%.

Gamma knife is a radiation therapy that is particularly used to deal with tumours such as brain tumour. It is a surgery that involves the use of a beam of extremely focussed gamma rays that are targeted on the tumour or the tissue to destroy and cut down the same. The major advantage of gamma knife therapy is that it doesn't harm the nearby cells or tissues. One doesn't experience any side effects of the same as well. This is why the surgery is safer than any other open surgery. The gamma knife therapy surgery is majorly used for the surgery of tumours in the brain in the spinal cord.

The rapidly growing and aging population is one of the key growth driving factors of the market. The prevalence of an increasing number of patients with neurological disorders is another reason for the growth of the market. Growing awareness about the technology involved in the surgery and attractive advantages offered by the same over open surgeries is another major growth-boosting factor. Also, a growing number of cancer patients around the world demand a better and safe surgical treatment that gamma knife therapy can easily offer.
