renown laser technology, we were introduced to them through our Talentor partners in the Lithuania office. Working with Ekspla's global team, we were able to create a compelling job description and recruiting strategy that allowed us to connect with Stephen. He possesses a deep knowledge of the laser optics industry, with a keen eye for positioning this highly innovative technology within the U.S. market. With his many years of experience working in the management of European based companies, Stephen will continue to build a bridge across different cultures and teams. I am excited to see him driving Ekspla's growth in the US market."

The personalized and collaborative approach to executive recruiting TurningPoint Executive Search provides, was key in this high powered search. Their process leveraged a combination of in-depth research, direct recruiting, and comprehensive in-person screening to produce a well-rounded slate of candidates for this role. They sourced and presented candidates with the technical skills, business acumen, and communication style that met and exceeded the client's top and bottom line.
